putting fun into fitness

"We've used Aeroball as an activity at our sites for 15 years and it's proven to be a popular way to introduce and develop physical activity and co-ordination with children. Overall, Aeroball has been a great asset to our activity programme."
In2Action Activities To Inspire

Turbo boost your activity offering

Combining Volleyball and Basketball on a Trampoline, Aeroball quickly builds balance, coordination & focus and develops tactical thinking and communication skills, making it a great asset to Schools and Learning Outside The Classroom organisations. The game is also a fun, competitive and amazing aerobic exercise which has proven popular with Holiday Resorts, Farm Parks, Activity Centres and other visitor attractions.

Anyone for AEROBALL?

The game is simple. Points are scored either by throwing the ball into your opponent's basket (two points) or if your shot misses but the other player doesn't grab the ball before it touches the trampoline (one point). When a player reaches a number of points, they are the winner. Click left to watch BBC's Mike Bushell give it a go...

get your Aeroball on

Easy to assemble, suitable for outdoors, the Two Player Senior Aeroball® is a compact 8' x 15' unit with an outer frame, spring loaded fabric housing to protect players and two 5' x 5' trampolines. Compartments are separated by a double net to limit contact and in the rear wall of each compartment is the basket. The larger 15' x 15' Four Player Senior Aeroball® (where four players compete simultaneously) adds an extra level of excitement as well as more revenue earning potential in a commercial setting.
